Marriage.

Texas papers announce the marriage of a fifteen year old widow.

Something New.

President Grant has actually been to Washington city and held a cabinet meeting.

Counterfeit Money

Counterfeit $20 bills on the United States National Bank at Washington, have made their appearance and parties holding money should look out for them.

Dentists in Council.

Dr. W. H. Morgan, of Nashville, is presiding over the Dental Association, now being held at the White Sulphur Springs, Virginia.

Radical Procession.

The Charleston Courier, in speaking of the Radical procession and speech-making in that city on the night of July 31, says: "As a political demonstration, the whole thing was a failure; as an outrage upon the community, quite a success."

Witches.

Wooster is having its witch disturbances; Germantown has its prodigy; and we are entertained with a wonderful tale from Troy, New York. The wife of a highly estimable gentleman has been having trances, and while in these trances, the bedstead and the floors and walls of the room are belabored with strange blows. Nashville has a mysterious woman in white.

Frightful Accident.

The New York papers give particulars of the accident to one of the Staten Island ferry boats, by which perhaps, two hundred men, women and children were killed and wounded. The accident was caused by the explosion of the boiler of the Westfield. The engineer was unhurt, and claims that the accident was not the result of any carelessness on his part, but probably of a defect in the boiler.

An Alderman Drawing.

The Charleston Courier says, "Here is an order which has come into our possession, which shows that a well to do Alderman is actually drawing rations from the city, when it is well known that he is now abler to give than to receive alms."

Are the people of Charleston to be blamed for making every exertion to free their city from Radicalism?

☞ The water has ceased to run through the Bonnet Carre crevasse in the Mississippi levee in Louisiana. In width this crevasse is two thousand feet, and has excavated a hole fifty feet just outside the levee, and has caused other landmarks which will never be obliterated. It flooded an area of two hundred square miles of the country, and submerged fourteen miles of the Jackson Railroad. Many large plantations have been totally destroyed, and hundreds of families rendered homeless. It is estimated that it will cost $100,000 to repair the levee alone.

Air-Line Railroad.

A meeting has been called at Columbia, South Carolina, of the Directors of the above road, to receive the report of the Chief Engineer, as to the location of the line between Gainesville, Georgia, and Greenville, South Carolina. There seems to be a considerable and laudable rivalry between the towns of Anderson, Pendleton and Walhalla, and intermediate points, to secure the line near these respective towns. As a matter of course the road is one of much importance, and the interests of the section of country decided upon as the route, will be greatly promoted by the location.

Georgia Matters.

The Good Templars will hold a meeting on the 11th, at Milledgeville, says the Federal Union.

The Barnesville Gazette says the cornerstone of the Methodist church was laid on the 26th ult.

The Chronicle and Sentinel says the Odd Fellows gave a banquet last night to their visiting brethren in Augusta.

Mr. Stephen S. Wells, dead, aged 74 years.... Called meeting of Albany and Columbus Railroad next Saturday.... Randall Jones dead, says the Columbus Enquirer.

The Macon Telegraph and Messenger says the cornerstone of Masonic Grand Lodge will be laid on the 15th, at that place.... Miss Anna L. Bulkley had her collar bone fractured.

The Good Templars' Advocate has the following: A lodge of Good Templars organized at Henderson, also at Perry, in Houston county.... Over one hundred and twenty lodges in the State.

The thermometer yesterday in Rome, says the Commercial, stood at 86 at 7 P.M.... Crop prospects in Floyd, Chattooga and Polk counties unfavorable.....About 1,000,000 brick burned in Rome this season.

The value of lumber and plank exported from Savannah on the 1st inst., says the Advertiser, was $21,383 00.... Central Railroad has been extended to the river.... Moonlight excursion to Tybee to-night.... Intermenis for week ending 29th ult., 24, of which 6 were whites, and 18 blacks.

Selection About Women.

A dress composed entirely of the most delicate white lace, looped up with pearls, enveloped a Philidelphia belle at Cape May recently.

A girl in the interior of New York has a prairie rose trailed over the sides of her room. One thousand perfect roses were counted there last Tuesday.

At Long Branch the other day one young girl asked another to dance with her. "Indeed I won't," was the reply; "what do I want another girl hugging me for?" A glorious, sensible girl, that.

"A devoted little wife," in Lafayette, seeing her husband blowing in the muzzle of a gun while holding back the hammer with his foot, tripped down to ask a milliner about the cost of mourning, and whether it would be becoming to her complexion.

One Sunday recently a Methodist preacher in Iowa advised the sisters to mortify Satan by given their jewelry to the church on the next Sabbath, evening. The following day a gaily-dressed widow and wife bride danced. "They are a mean set of sinners," said the parson.

ACTION IS MAN'S SALVATION.—Men who have half a dozen irons in the fire are not the ones to craze. It is the man of voluntary or compelled leisure, who weaves castles and thinks himself into the mad-house or the grave. Motion is all nature's law. Action is man's salvation, physical, mental and moral; and yet, nine out of ten are looking wilfully forward to the hour when they shall have leisure to do nothing—the very trap that has lured to death many a successful man. He is only truly wise who lays himself out to work till life's latest hour, and that's the man who will live the longest, and will live to most purpose.

From the Goldsboro' Messenger.

RIOT AND BLOODSHED IN GOLDSBORO'.

Radicalism Responsible.

The streets of our quiet little town, last Saturday, came more fully up to the idea we had formed of a terrestrial Pandemonium than anything else we had ever seen or read of.

The occasion was the great Republican mass meeting held here by order of the Radical Executive Committee. Two large free trains arrived here over the Atlantic Railroad, crowded with a vast multitude of infuriated negroes, phrenzied with liquor and maddened with the political excitement of the occasion. Their number was estimated to have been not less than four thousand, joined here as they were, by crowds of negroes from the towns and counties adjoining.

THE CAUSE OF THE RIOT.

About 12 o'clock the police attempted the arrest of a very turbulent negro who resisted most violently. A negro mob, urged on by a couple of Northern mulattoes, (one of them named Charles Hilton,) soon surrounded the police, clamoring for the rescue of the prisoner. The prisoner was rescued and Gus Bryant, one of the colored police who gave chase, was shot at by some negro belonging to the mob. Amidst the excitement, however immediately, two or three shots were dispatched by the colored policemen after the fugitive. Now the negroes became very riotous, tumultuous and insulting in the extreme. Clubs, razors, knives and pistols were flourished by them in an unaccountable number, while their threats for revenge was most terrific.

At the Exchange Hotel the police succeeded in recapturing the fugitive. In the meantime, the mob had become more infuriated and fully maddened. The prisoner was taken inside the hotel by Deputy Sheriff Mike Woods, aided by the police, while the mob, fully one thousand strong, congregated in front of the entrance, still clamoring for the prisoner and threatening the life of Gus Bryant, the colored police. A melee ensued in which several innocent white men, who merely looked on, were badly clubbed by the mob.

A missile hurled at the window broke it and cut a severe gash on the head of Mr. Council Best, an aged citizen, who had sought shelter in the hotel. A pistol shot fired from the mob took effect in the door casing; the door was forced open, and two blows with clubs were rapidly dealt to one of the men, a citizen, inside.

Forbearance had now ceased to be a virtue—it was do or die with the police who were inside, and a rapid fire was opened upon the assailants who fired rapidly in return. One man, a principal rioter, was killed on the spot, three or four wounded and a general stampede of the immense mob, took place. In all, about thirty shots were fired.

The mob, however, soon rallied for a second attack, even more infuriated than at first.

Just then Mr. W. F. Lotlin, of Kinston, a republican, appeared on the hotel piazza and appealed to the mob to disperse. Several colored men, among them John Randolph, of Newbern, also, did all in their power to subdue the rioters. The police, and especially the white citizens, showed a commendable forbearance; and we are glad that but very few of the Goldsboro' colored men showed a disposition to side with the mob.

Ex-Judge now member of Congress, Thomas, who was the principal speaker, and who could have calmed the mob with a very few words, never showed himself near the scene, although, necessarily, foreseeing the immediate danger there was of a bloody massacre. Mr. E. H. Stanly, President of the Atlantic Railroad, and apparently the chief marshal and director of the mass meeting, was appealed to, while the rabble was still in front of the hotel, to put his train in readiness and to carry the negroes out of town. This he indignantly refused to do. When afterward politely waited upon by a committee of gentlemen, appointed by the Mayor, for the same purpose, he again refused to leave before their time was out.

When told that the citizens would hold him and Judge Thomas responsible for further disturbances, Mr. Stanly replied, very sarcastically, "Hold responsible and be d——d." At about 5 o'clock P. M., Thomas, Stanly and the white Radicals generally, left town, leaving the vast multitude of bloodthirsty negro demons behind, until 5 P. M.; and our citizens to make the best they could with them.

The disturbance was chiefly between the white and colored police on one side, and the infuriated negro mob on the other. The citizens did not take part.

ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, August 3.—The Indians have plundered an express train and robbed a post near Fort Benton.

The Excelsior Brewery at St Louis burned. Loss, $150,0000.

The disaster at the Schutzenfest was exaggerated. Only one was hurt.

The cutter Vanguard took the first prize at the Cowes regatta yesterday.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, August 3.—Three more have been reported as missing since Sunday.

Rufus Hunt, of New Orleans holds stakes for the Mace-Coburn fight.

PENNSYLVANIA.

HARRISBURG, August 3.—Mrs. Burnside, daughter of Senator Cameron, is dead.

ITALY.

FLORENCE, August 3.—The British iron clad, Worrior, and an American frigate are ashore near Leghorn. They hope to get off without serious damage.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, August 3.—Two passenger trains collided in the underground Metropolitan railroad to-day. Several persons were hurt.

FRANCE.

PARIS, August 3.—Algerian advices are alarming; Insurgents burning forests, and committing horrible attrocities to natives. Oran joined the Insurrection. Deputys of the Left Centre are in caucus, and resolved to vote for prolongation of Thiers' power under title of President. Proposed Conference between Thiers, Von Bust and Granville, relates to the International societies.

Count De Remusat has been appointed Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Motion was made in the assembly on the part of the deputies of the Left Centre for the prolongation powers of M. Thiers for three years, M. Thiers to be President of the Republic, to which he is alone responsible. It is understood that the motion will be supported by four hundred members of the assembly.

The agitation in Algeria still continues, but numerous chiefs of the insurgents in subdivision of the letif have given in their submission to the authorities.

☞ The trouble which exists at present between the royal families of England and Germany is to be probed as deeply as a parliamentary interpellation will allow. Notice has been given to the Prime Minister that he will be asked whether he is able to inform the House why the same hospitalities which are freely offered to members of the royal family when they visit Berlin have not been extended to the Duke of Edinburgh, Prince and Princess of Russia; whether he is aware that there has strongly developed feeling in Prussia as well as in this country at their Imperial Highness being allowed to take up their residence at Prussia House during their stay in London; and whether any correspondence on the subject has been received at Berlin, and—here a slight sting comes in—whether he is willing to lay it on the table of the House for the information of Parliament.

☞ The wife of John H. McClintock, of Manchester, Wisconsin, who is now sixty-four years of age, stepped on a vial, when a girl only sixteen years old, and a piece of glass one-fourth of an inch wide and one-fifth of an inch long and penetrated all the membranes to the brain, and the child of her foe. Strange and considerable pain is known for the past forty-eight years.

Violence in Jackson

We learn from a gentleman that a crowd of disguised men visited the house of Mr. Robert Holliday after night, and attempted to murder him, as is believed, having fired a great number of shots into his house.

Such acts of violence are to be deprecated. An occasional occurrence of this kind furnishes the basis for any amount of Radical slander. If there was anything political in this affair, the attacking party must have been Radicals, as Mr. Holliday is a staunch Democrat.—Southern Watchman.

☞ The abolition of slavery in Brazil is exciting an animated discussion in the Chamber of Deputies, where considerable opposition to the bill is exhibited. The proposed law emancipates all slave offsprings hereafter born, subject to apprenticeship for twenty-one years. The owners of the slave mothers of the liberated offsprin are to receive as compensation either the services during the apprenticeship for twenty-one years, or else twenty dollars per annum during thirty years, for each child reared to the age of eight. The slaves belonging to the Emperor and to public institutions are to receive their freedom at once, and those belonging to monasteries within seven years. An emancipating fund is established, and slaves are allowed to hold and inherit property, and to obtain their freedom at official valuations. A registration of every slave is also to be made.

☞ The Washington correspondent of the Louisville Ledger writes, July 31: "Messrs. Beck, Pool and Buckley were designated as a sub-committee to meet in this city on the 20th of September to report on the condition of the debts and finances of the Southern States, digest the reports of the Governors, report election laws, etc. This order is regarded by Democrats as of the greatest importance, and persons having information and evidence on these facts should send the same to Mr. Beck, at Lexington, Kentucky. The evidence already had shows that $200,000,000 has been stolen by the Radical party. The committee ordered 150 copies of the testimony to be printed for the use of the members."

☞ Mrs. Bloomer, the originator of the costume for women which still bears her name, and one of the pioneers, if not the pioneer, in the woman's rights movement, is now said to be living quietly, without either social or political ambition, in a rising Kansas town, engaged in attending to a large family and a flourishing farm.

Parties spending a part or the entire season at the various springs, or other summer resorts through the country, can have THE CONSTITUTION sent to them by addressing a line to this office.

Bret Harte.

It is stated that this gentleman is paid ten thousand dollars a year to write where, when and what he pleases.

A Grape Vine.

In the Chamber of Commerce at Memphis, can be seen a grape vine from Augusta, Arkansas, which measures nine and one-half inches in diameter.

Turkey.

The government has stopped the publication of the Turkish newspaper at Constantinople, in consequence of an attack upon the Pope in its columns.

Senator Vance.

This gentleman brands the statement as utterly false, that he had bargained with Holden conceding certain matters to him in consideration of support to be given in return to the Senator's claims to his seat.

Bank of England.

The Bank of England is hoarding up bullion, and the English papers point it out as another evidence that war may take place.

There were nearly $140,000,000 in the vaults at latest dates.

Time Changed.

The Republican Convention in Kentucky for the nomination of county candidates and members of the Legislature has been put off by the Republican Committee to the 7th of September.

Kentucky.

Under Democratic rule, the taxes in the above State are 30 cents on the $100; under Radical rule in Texas they are $3 12½, and it is equally enormous wherever the Radical party is in power.

Agricultural Congress.

A meeting of Delegates from Agricultural Societies, embracing every section of the United States, will take place in Nashville on the 3d of October next, the object being the organization of an Agricultural Congress. The Tennessee State Fair commences on the same day.

Counterfeit Money.

A friend handed us a short time ago several circulars purporting to come from manufactures of counterfeit money. The country is flooded with these circulars, and there is no telling how many weak persons are swindled by them. The modus operandi, is pretty clearly exposed, in the circulars, to which we call attention. The swindlers are, of course, only after the money they can get.

South Carolina.

The Sub-Ku-Klux Committee in their report on the condition of affairs in the above State, rehearse the tales of whipping, murder and outrage. It seems to conflict with some of the documentary evidence in that State. The intriguing, plundering, the miserable misrule, and the impositions by carpet-baggers and negroes who rule the State, is at the bottom of the greater part of the trouble in South Carolina.

Alleghany Springs.

A correspondent of the Daily Richmond Enquirer in speaking of the visitors to the above springs, says: "There are some beautiful young ladies at this place. The most charming and attreting are Miss R——f Augusta, Ga., Miss T.——of Washington, Ga., and Miss T.——of New Orleans."

It is gratifying to us to know that at the various watering places visited by Georgia young ladies this season, their modesty, beauty and intelligence have been recognized and appreciated.

Governor Bullock.

Our chief Executive officer is still absent from the State. When last heard from by us he was at Newport. It has been said by Governor Bullock's friends, that there is but little to do in his office at this time. Then duty requires him to be here and do that little well, at the same time to set an example to other business men by being at his office, ready to serve those whose agent he professes to be. Governor Bullock is not a ruler of Georgia, but is simply a servant of the people, or if rightfully Governor of the State, he was placed in office to execute the public will. The people of Georgia are her rulers, and Bullock is only the hired help, or agent, to do what and only what the people want done. At least, this is Republicanism. He cannot serve us at Newport or Long Branch.

Grant's Neglect of Duty.

Under the above heading the Washington Patriot speaks of the President's prolonged absence from the seat of government, and his culpable abandonment of public duty. As a matter of course, Grant should be in Washington where he could see the laws faithfully executed, instead of idling way his time at a watering place, provoking the contempt of all intelligent men. Public opinion, however, is one thing wholly unappreciated by the President. The Patriot goes on to say: "Besides the delay and injury to the public business, occasioned by this desertion, it involves no inconsiderable expense to the treasury. All important papers requiring the signature of the President, must be sent to Long Branch by a special messenger, who is allowed ten cents mileage each way for going and returning, hotel bills and other expenses. It is now estimated that every time the President signs his name at Long Branch it costs the tax-payers about one hundred dollars, according to the allowance which may be made to the messenger."

What the Patriot says of President Grant, in some degree is applicable to Governor Bullock. Previous to the war it was almost regarded by the people as a cause for impeachment for the Governor to absent himself, no matter what the cause, from the seat of government. That, however, was in the days when Radicalism was unknown to our people. When the public good was invariably consulted in contradistinction to all personal and selfish objects; in contradistinction to the interests of particular class of men, or particular districts of territory, or to particular interests of any kind; and it was in the days when power resided in the people, and the government was administered in conformity to their will and for the promotion of their interests.

Ben. Butler.

As it seems a difficult matter to crowd the above named individual off the field in Massachusetts, we cannot refrain once in a while from giving a line or two to the would-be Governor of that State. There was a time in Butler's life when he had position and respectability, and by some prevention as an orator could command attention. He claimed at that day but only to be a national man, but respected the rights of the people residing in the States.

On our table at this time is a speech made not a great while ago by Butler, in which he advised his hearers to "emulate the patriotism, the disinterestedness and the honesty of the great men who achieved the independence of the country. Be faithful, said he, to your constitution; be faithful to the interests of the masses; supreme power resides in the people; all legitimate authority is derived from them; the people have the right to inspect the conduct of their representatives, and to hold them accountable for their acts. Labor to diffuse knowledge and virture, and in doing this eschew all dishonorable means. Take the Bible as your chart, fear God, and reverence the institutions of your country."

Those were good sentiments for Butler Then his mind and feelings had not been hackneyed in the beaten walks of Radicalism. Then he had not enlisted in the warfare of that party. Then his hopes had not been damped by disappointment, nor his head and heart been besieged by inveterate selfishness, or perverted by noxious prejudices. Then he seemed committed to the cause of truth and justice; but now, private interests and party prejudice has clouded Ben's brain, perverted his judgment and damaged his sense of right. His moral researches are not conducted with an eye to truth or honesty, and meanness, baseness and cruelty control the little republic of his breast.

The disposition of Ben Butler in the visions of his dying bed will transport him back, as it did the great exile of St. Helena, to the stirring scenes of the army and camp, with one difference, Napoleon's mind wandered back to his old Guard, and the honor and glory of France—Butler's will recur to his being at the head of an army where women and children opposed him, and spoons were the reward.

Too Sanguine.

One or two of our exchanges of yesterday, are too sanguine as to the result of the next Presidential election, and base their hopes of success on the divisions in the Radical party. There is no division that cannot, or will not be healed. Principle, honor, public good, or the advancement of the glory of the country, enters not into the brain of a Radical leader. The party has but one principle, and that is, "loaves and fishes"—it is a personal party, and to re-elect Grant, and to retain the disposition of the spoils, is the governing idea.

The duty of the Democratic party is plain, and easy to be seen, and that is to place no reliance in Radical professions, but to fight steadily and unflinchingly. In the meantime, let the Democratic party cordially unite. Let them look closely at the machinery of their party, examine it, and see in what manner the different parts of it will harmoniously work together, and by what means the great impediment of motion, friction, may be avoided. No party can win if divided, it is union which insures success.

Letter from Athens.

ATHENS, GA., August 2, 1871.

Editor Constitution: On last Sunday evening your humble servant, in company with several others, left Atlanta on the Georgia train, in a cloud of dust, for Athens. The railroad companies ought to get up a machine for sprinkling the line of road—so thought more than one of the passengers, who were nearly suffocated the entire trip with dust.

I will not attempt to describe the actions and doings of parties aboard, who were subject to the tender passion. I will leave that to my friend and partner, Clarke, who is a bachelor. Such things are expected of him. I being a married man shut my eyes to such visions as were described in a certain proprietorial letter not long since, and slept.

Athens has been in a stir this week; and as J. N. S. has kept you well posted in regard to the commencement exercises, I will not report them.

Some disappointment was expressed at there not being as large a crowd present as was expected.

The Alumni meeting was well attended, and the members meant business. They went directly to work, were harmonious, and no doubt the action of that body will be of great benefit to the University.

Mr. Hill's speech created quite a sensation here. A great many are dissatisfied with it. They say he ought not to have spoken in such a manner of the status of the South before the war. J. N. S. has given you a correct synopsis of the speech, and your readers can judge of it for themselves.

Athens was visited with a refreshing rain this afternoon—the first in a month. The dust had become intolerable.

The people of this place say they are determined to build the Northeastern Railroad. No doubt THE CONSTITUTION will do all in its power to assist in this enterprise so essential to Athens.

Your Atlanta shivmen, George Johnson and Peter "Struck Ile," here this week. Crowds of people went to see the show. They call the alligator, caught by the boys of No. 1, in their trip to Brunswick, the Great South American Lizzard, and a rooster, picked up some where on Peachtree street, they represent as being directly imported from China. Peter and George are up to the times in sharp tricks.

I see some of the Atlanta belles in attendance on Commencement. They do not lack for admirers.

Athens is still the hospitable place that she has long been noted for. And those who have the privilege of enjoying that hospitality, go away with hearts full of love for the place and its inhabitants. H.

UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA.

Commencement Day—Addresses of the Graduating Class—Delivery of Prize Medals to the Successful Contestants by Hons. H. V. M. Miller, and Address by Hon. Representatives of Atlanta Secure Two of the Prizes—Welcome Address of Col. W. W. Lumpkin, at the Alumni Banquet.

Special Correspondence of The Constitution.]

ATHENS, GA., August 3, 1871.

Editor Constitution: In my last communication descriptive of the occurrences incident to the hours devoted to the Alumni Banquet, I inadvertently, in the haste of preparing the article, omitted to mention that W. W. Lumpkin, Esq., principal of the High School here, pronounced the welcome address to the Alumni. The speaker greeted them with a cordiality that carried with it the conviction that earnest words were but the vehicles of communicating the warmth of the heart that dictated the beautiful utterances.

The thrice welcome was a chaste and appropriate offering to the assembled alumni, and was a production, both in its composition and presentation, indicative of a worthy son of a worthy sire.

Colonel B. A. Thornton, of Columbus, delivered the address before the two literary societies. He selected for his theme "The Duty of the Hour." He urged the young men just entering upon the arena of life to contribute what amounts their positions and acquirements enabled them to do, toward regaining the impaired and lost fortunes incident to the late struggle between the States.

In you, young gentlemen, whether for weal or for woe, is confided the interests of a smitten and suffering country—you can add to its material and political advancement. It is useless for you to criminate or recriminate. No nation ever made a more persistent, honest and earnest effort for independence than its brave and chivalrous sons of the South, but as the result proved disastrous to our arms, nothing remains for us but to use such appliances as will replace what has been damaged or destroyed. Nothing good or great can result from a course of idleness and dissipation. The path of toil, unceasing toil, is the only route to success, which can never be reached except by industry. Do not despair, but advance with a brave heart—dismiss the past and look with hope to the future.

Yesterday was commencement day of the University, and the attendance was larger than on any previous day. The following programme was observed during the exercises of the occasion:

UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA—COMMENCEMENT DAY—WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 2, 1871.

Our filial ties—our bonds so dear,
Although they yet may closely bind us,
This day will sever;
And the many joys we've each had here,
With all the friends we leave behind us,
We part forever.

Honorable Mention.—H. C. Ansley, Augusta, B. A. Denmark, Quitman, R. H. Goetchius, Columbus, J. L. Hardeman, Macon.

Mr. P. K. Yonge delivered the Latin Salutatory in such earnestness of manner and intonation it induced the conviction that he comprehended the force and import of the tongue in which he spake.

Mr. J. L. Brookes, in the discussion of "The Greatest Art," thought that printing was the basis on which rests the government structure. From primeval days it has developed almost all the useful arts, has been the medium through which valuable knowledge has been dispensed; it has been the channel through which the civilized world has been more thoroughly illuminated.

Mr. R. L. Gamble declared that the "Political and legal coxcombs amounted to a nuisance unmitigated;" they grace all such occasions as the present. What a glorious life is that of a political coxcomb! having no envious rival to misjudge him, he can indulge in exhibitions of self-complacency that are refreshing to him. But the products of the coxcomb is vanity of vanities.

G. R. Glenn had five minutes in which to show what could not be done in that time. The faculty had restricted the speakers to the time embraced within that brief period. Within the past four years he thought that he had collected enough from his instructors to require twenty minutes to develop satisfactorily. Twenty minutes just now would gratify enthusiasm and relieve a bosom pregnant with mighty thoughts, but it is lost, and "thereby hangs a tale."

J. L. Hand magnified "Antiropos" into proportions beyond other living things. Everywhere we behold the prodigious achievements of the hand of man. In the department of literature he has erected monuments to perpetuate his name. Milton, Shakespeare and others were arrayed in imposing order before us to illustrate the theme discussed.

E. Newton gave us a peep behind the scenes, into "The World's Drama." There we beheld Alexander the Great with "his plow-share, furrowing the world and sowing noxious tares; we also contemplated spectacles not so remote, in point of time, the catastrophes of the French Republic horrify us, and we also saw many other sights in "the world's drama" that have now faded from our memory.

H. E. Ware says that Galileo says that "It moves for all that." He has suffered persecution, by reason of saying that the "world moves." The philosopher made a rough journey for himself for promulgating such apparent absurdity.

G. W. Watts gave us "Now and then" to contemplate. We were alternately here and there, now in the inspiring scenes of the present—then in the mysterious shadowing past. France was "then" a proud and haughty mistress, "now" in crushed ambition and broken spirit. P. K. Yonge, (2d honor,) in contemplating "The Real and Ideal," asserted that there can be nothing so perfect, but that the ideal can produce something more beautiful. How different is life to the youth as he looks out. When he looks upon the long and devious path that he has traveled, he finds that it was ideal. So the ideal always recedes. Onward, ever onward, is the ideal.

E. H. Briggs, (1st honor,) valedictory to Trustees and Faculty. Mr. Briggs, is a vigorous and earnest speaker, he descanted upon the University, and invoked many blessings upon his Alma Mater.

G. A. Howell (1st honor) Valedictory to audience. He desired to express the feelings of his heart, as it was exercised towards the citizens of Athens, their liberal hospitality he had shared for four long years. College days with us, with its pangs and pleasures, must have an end. Memory with its mystic workings will bring us back to the shadows of these ancient oaks and sacred walls.

A. A. Murphy (1st honor) Valedictory to class. Mr. M. is a forcible speaker. His gesticulations and attitude gives grace to his speech. He possesses an animated, pleasing style. He desired the members of his class to point out to our people the errors of this age, and to achieve to the extent of their capacities all that might contribute to the welfare of society and the interests of their common country.

Senator H. V. M. Miller presented the various prizes that had been awarded for merit in different departments. He furnished us an eloquent address on subjects he would not define it—he would tell what is was not.

1st. It was not the simple enunciation of truth.

2d. Not the logical statement of truth.

3d. Nor the rhetorical embellishment of truth.

4th. Nor did it consist in time—some of the most effective speeches in the history of eloquence were delivered in one or two minutes.

5th. Nor did it consist in action.

6th. Nor in inspiration.

The speaker entered into an argument to prove that the pen and press were more eloquent advocates for truth than the living tongue. The speaker said that he would not present an illumination in the art in obscurum. He did not know if a series of the words that orators use. He said that instruction in oratory here in measures of time teachers would be unnecessary. The rule of an audience is sufficient evidence of eloquence. Whenever human thought is free there we expect the power of eloquence. At the conclusion of Mr. Miller's address he presented the gold medals to the following young gentlemen: To J. E. Hartridge, Sophomore, of Florida, for the best essay, subject "Whig and Tory;" to W. A. Blount, Florida, best essay on "Research;" J. S. Davis, Albany, Georgia, best Sophomore declaimer.

Prize medals have also been awarded to the following contestants.

J. E. Hartridge, Atlanta Demosthenian Society, for best Junior Debator.

J. L. Hardeman, Macon Demosthenian Society, College Medal for best Debator.

F. P. Gray, Adairsville Demosthenian Society, best Sophomore Debator.

WASHINGTON CITY, July 26, 1871.

GEN. A. H. COLQUITT—My Dear General: On the eve of my departure from Atlanta to answer the summons of the Congressional Investigating Committee, you handed me a letter, dated, I think, at Flat Shoals, Ga., and written, as the letter stated, at the instance of many of my political and personal friends. I have mislaid it, and forgotten the signature or signatures attached to it.

I desire to answer it, and if you cannot recall the name of the writer, you are authorized to publish this as an answer to that and similar inquiries made by friends elsewhere.

The writer inquires whether my name appears in the True Georgian as a candidate for Governor on the political platform of that paper by my authority.

In reply, I have to say that the editor of the True Georgian will doubtless be quite willing to state the fact, that my name was placed in his columns without my authority, without any consultation with me, and without any intention on his part of committing me to any particular line of policy.

Suffice to say on this subject, that I am not a candidate for the nomination, have not been, and shall not be; but I have not thought it necessary to take any public notice of the few references in the papers to my name in that connection.

I appreciate most sensibly the compliment paid me; but my plans for the future are so arranged that I could not consent to be diverted from them; and while I feel the deepest interest in the results of the next campaign in Georgia, I should be compelled to decline the nomination if tendered me.

Permit me, in concluding, to express the deep conviction I feel, that any event is to be regarded as a calamity which divides our people. Amidst half the evils which have befallen us it has been a source of prime comfort to us that we have been united.

This may be regarded, to some extent, as the legitimate result of the war, but the policy pursued toward the South by the party in power since the war, has, more than all things else, contributed to this end. It has brought together those who aided our cause and those who, prior to and during the war, were consistent and persistent Union men, and united all in sentiment as the heart of one man. I trust that nothing may occur which will deprive us of this partial compensation for the wrongs we have suffered.

With assurances of my best efforts in behalf of Democratic nominees, both State and Federal.

I am, very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
J. B. GORDON.

No. 143 FULTON STREET,

NEW YORK CITY.

Dear Friend: Your name having been given to us as a discreet and capable person we invite your participation in the most profitable speculation named in the within sheet. As no one is acting for us just now in your neighborhood, we will to you, for this once only, deviate from our usual custom of requiring all cash in advance, and to get you interested at once, we make these liberal propositions.

On receipt of $10 by express and the balance soon, we will send you $1,200 of our goods; or for $15 we will send $2,000; or for $20 we will send $3,000. If you forward $25 we will send you $4,000, and give or for $30, by express, we will send you $10,000, and the exclusive right for your State. You can then employ others to assist you. Different denominations will be sent as desired. The advance payment is required simply as an evidence of sincerity. The balance is to be paid soon. All letters must be sent by express. We receive no letters by mail.

We advise you at once to invest all the money you can spare, as such may not always be so easily obtained. The terms are most liberal, besides, there are great pecuniary advantages in buying largely, and any one really meaning business, will not hesitate to make so small a payment. We know full well in making the proposition that, the quality of our goods will secure your future patronage, and that you will not by acting in bad faith; indeed, you cannot afford to deceive us, as your future prosperity is at stake.

Can you make money quicker, easier or surer? Act promptly and strain every point to commence at once. Order only by express. We do not receive LETTERS BY MAIL.

Let us receive your favors soon, or some more enterprising fellow townsman may obtain the commission.

As this is a special offer, made only to you—in your locality—will you kindly return this letter to remind us of the concession made in your favor. In F. L. and T.,

Fraternally yours,
DAY & WALLACE,
143 Fulton street, New York.

Address only by express.

If you desire a better understanding we shall be glad to see you at our office and show you samples; then you will know exactly what you are buying. We have new issues of $10 and $20, and will send you samples to the amount of $200 on an order of $35 of our goods, as above, or $500 on an order for $50 worth. Send by express in all cases, not by mail.

43 LIBERTY STREET, NEW YORK.

Dear Friend: We are anxious to obtain the faithful co-operation of a reliable man to push the business named in the enclosed circular. A friend of yours, who represents a large house in this city, is now engaged with us, and informs us you are just and that we could rely on your honor not to betray our secret. Now, if you will agree to start at once, we will deviate from our usual course of requiring all cash in advance, and supply you on the following terms:

PAY THE EXPRESS AGENT THE CHARGES,

then we shall be certain you are in earnest. Remember we deal on the square, and there is not the slightest danger so long as you follow our instructions. Be careful to

KEEP YOUR OWN COUNSEL.

Don't let any carrier or express man know the nature of the transaction, and every dollar will go well. We will give you one thousand dollars if any one of us, by letter, cannot be passed. In a short time we shall have a lot of

$5 AND $10 COUNTY RIGHTS

We are also bringing out other schemes for making money, which we will disclose to you on better acquaintance, when you can come on to New York and join our secret association. As for the counterfeit money we

Let us hear from you without delay, and be sure to send the

with charges prepaid. We shall anxiously wait to receive your letter, and you can depend the money you have to pay from the amount which you send. Don't under any circumstances, deviate from the instructions which we shall give you from time to time. You will see the importance of our request afterward, if you do not guess it now. Don't delay writing at once. "Make hay while the sun shines." Whatever correspondence passes between us will be considered

NEW YORK.—August 3.—The disaster Investigation is as follows:

Henry, Robinson, engineer, sworn—Left Staten Island at half-past twelve; came into New York slip; the engine bell rang all done; went out and put hose on the tanks and went on the dock to straighten them; went back to the engine room and saw there was twenty-seven pounds of steam; went out; fireman now shut off the water; I then saw the fireman coming out of the fire-room and asked him if all was right, and he said yes. I then returned to the engine-room and saw twenty-seven pounds of steam; I then walked off slowly toward the bow and saw the captain with his hand on the wheel; I then returned toward the engine-room, and when within ten or twelve feet of the door heard the explosion. I rushed for the door of the engine-room, lifted the trap, when a fireman came up so badly injured that he died immediately; was not absent four minutes after noticing twenty-seven pounds on the gauge; don't know whether the gauge was correct or not; when there was that steam on the gauge would sometimes stand at two and at other times at zero; worked from twenty to twenty-two pounds of steam on the way up; generally use from twenty-five to twenty-seven pounds of steam; valve was set at twenty-seven so as to give the steam a chance to blow off and keep it at twenty-five; when the ganges showed twenty-seven in the slip the safety valve was just simmering; water in tanks is sometimes boiling; valve is five inches; could't tell square of fire or difference between high and low pressure; there were sometimes little pin hole leaks in the engine, and there was a patch on the saddle put on last fall, which was blown off at the explosion.

A Wonderful Story.

It is said that in the tombs of the Necropolis of ancient Egypt two kinds of mummies have been found. One is incomplete—that is to say, all organs necessary for life have been separated from them; the other, on the contrary, is quite complete. Having observed this, a Swedish chemist, Dr. Grusselbach, has come to the conclusion that the Egyptian mummies are not all, as has been said and believed for some thousands of years, bodies embalmed by any process of preservation whatever, but that they are really the bodies of individuals whose life has been momentarily suspended, with the intention of restoring them at some future time, only the secret of preservation has now been lost. Meanwhile, Professor Grusselbach adduces many proofs in support of his idea; among others, his experiments during the last ten years, which he says have always proved successful. He took a snake, and treated it in such a manner as to benumb it as though it had been carved in marble, and it was so brittle that he allowed it to fall; it would have broken into fragments. In this state he kept it for one or several years, and then restored it to life by sprinkling it with a stimulating fluid, the composition of which is his secret. For fifteen years the snake has been undergoing an existence composed of successive deaths and resurrections, apparently without sustaining any harm. The Professor is reported to have sent a petition to his Government, requesting that a criminal who has been condemned to death may be given to him, to be treated in the same manner as the snake, promising to restore him to life in two years. Intelligence has not yet been received whether the Swedish government has accepted or rejected the learned chemist's proposals is not known.

HOYT & JONES.—A new style of "Progressive Ledger," which these bankers have adopted, is well worth looking into. The excellence consists in its giving the exact status of every customer's account, and a complete trial balance every day, with no more work than with the books and hardly in use.

GRAPES.—We acknowledge the reception of several large clusters of luscious Concord grapes from Mrs. S. B. Robson, of Kirkwood. There may be more delicious grapes, but we have yet to see any more in concord with our taste. Well may Barry Cornwall exclaim!

"Who drinks
To her who blusheth and never thinks?
Ah! who is this maid of thine?
The Grape, boys! the Grape!"

LAWSHE & HAYNES.—The old and favorite jewelers, Lawshe & Haynes, announce that for the next thirty days they will sell watches, jewelry, precious stones, silver plate, etc., at greatly reduced prices. We speak not unadvisedly when we say that they have as full and as choice a stock of goods in their line as can be found anywhere in the South. Now that they have put their goods down at prices lower than ever before known in Atlanta, we hope that our friends will not fail to call and see them. Such another opportunity to get reliable goods at low figures may not occur again.

PERSONAL.—General A. R. Wright and wife, of Augusta; Hon. J. L. Seward and daughter, of Thomasville, and Hon. J. W. Harris and daughter, of Cartersville, were at the Kimball House yesterday.

Major Joseph Bonsall, of Augusta, is in the city and is stopping at Mrs. Overby's. He makes a big speech before the Supreme Court to-day.

Ex-Alderman J. C. C. Black, of Augusta, is at the Kimball House.

Judge W. Schley, of Savannah, and W. G Bean, of Augusta, came up to attend a convention of Judges, called by Judge Harrell, to meet here on the 2d, but so far are the only Judges present. We think they could organize harmoniously. One could be President and the other Secretary.

COLONEL CHARLES GATES.—We regret to announce the death of this estimable gentleman. He was full of years, being about eighty-six years old. Many years ago, long before the railroads which made Atlanta were even projected, he lived upon the Chattahoochee, where the railroad crosses that river. From there he removed to Alabama, and from there to Mississippi. In the latter State he amassed a very large fortune, so that at the beginning of the war he was one of the wealthiest men there. About the first of January last he returned to this city. All who saw him were struck with his remarkable force of character and clearness of mind. He was indeed a type of the olden-time gentleman.

To his daughter, Mrs. Eckford, and nephew, Major Palmer, we tender the sympathies of our entire community on this sad occasion.

THAT "DASTARDLY OUTRAGE."—Early Monday morning John H. Flynn, Esq., Master Mechanic of the State Road, with commendable energy, began to investigate into the facts connected with the reported scalding of Two little white boys near the Car Grounds, by an engineer or some one connected with the switch engine of the State Road. The facts completely exonerate Mr. M. P. McVay, engineer of the switch engine, or any one connected with that engine. Mr. McCrary, we learn, is a suitable gentleman as well as an efficient engineer, incapable of committing any such acts. The subject is being enquired into, and the guilty party, when discovered, will not only be discharged from the road but severely dealt with by the law. Our informant, who gave us the information of the occurrence, says as such was his information at the time, but since he is satisfied that he did the engineer of the switch engine injustice, and heartily makes the amend honorable to him. We know that he would not wrongly misrepresent him.

MONTICELLO AGRICULTURAL FAIR OF COBB COUNTY.—The above Fair was held at Marietta on yesterday. The day was propitious, the attendance large and the exhibition a decided success. Cobb county is justly proud of its pretty and attractive young ladies; its industrious and charming middle aged ladies, and of its fine, fat, jolly, never advance, for the amiability of their disposition and the purity of the mountain air never permits a Cobb county female to grow old.

This county, or rather the people of it, are taking a great deal of interest in her fairs, and exhibit a laudable energy and rivalry in getting them up. The people are every year paying more attention to agricultural and domestic matters, and every day it tells to the advancement and prosperity of the county.

The speech was delivered by Colonel Thomas Hardeman, of Macon. It is unnecessary to say that the Colonel made an excellent speech; he never gets off any other kind. This was one of his happiest efforts, and was highly appreciated by his audience. It was full of beautiful imagery, and abounded in practical thoughts.

By the way, quite a number of the prominent and intelligent citizens of Cobb are exceedingly anxious to have Colonel Hardeman nominated by the Democratic party for CONGRESS. The party certainly could make no better selection.

The Agricultural Society intend to erect near Marietta a suitable building to be used for county fair purposes, the cost to be some two thousand dollars. During yesterday some five or six hundred dollars of the amount was raised.

The baby exhibition was to come off in the Park, during the afternoon, in the presence of at least one thousand persons. It was truly a great pleasure to see the bright eyes, healthy cheeks and smiling countenances of so many fine healthy children—perhaps the pleasure of seeing the mothers in their extreme happiness was greater, particularly the young mother who took a baby on exhibition, and appeared totally unconscious that there was another mother in Cobb county but herself. God bless the mothers and the babies; what could Cobb, or any other county do without them?

It is a regret to us that we were forced to leave Marietta before this, the most interesting feature of the Fair, came off.

THE BEETHOVEN SOCIETY.—We are gratified to witness the interest manifested in the Beethoven Society by its members and friends. The refining and elevating tendencies of the cultivation of a taste for music is patent to all, and this association is doing a noble work in developing this taste. It attunes the heart to greater harmony, and brings congenial spirits in closer accord. The soothing influence of music has been known and felt ever since Orpheus by the music of his "golden shell" caused the wheel of Ixion to stop, Tantalus to forget the raging thirst which tormented him, the Vulture to cease to prey on the vitals of Tityus, and Pluto and Proserpina to lend a favoring ear to his pet Hero.

Last night the meeting was well attended, and some five or six members were add d to its ranks.

We bid it God speed in its holy mission. We want to see the musical talent in Atlanta cultivated to the highest pitch of attainment. We know that every lover of the beautiful and the true will unite in bidding it

"Its bondage break,
Its dreaming soul awake
In airy numbers."

Hence, Dooley's Yeast Powder is the only best purest, strongest and cheapest ever offered to the consumer, and every one who has used it will readily testify to this assertion. SCIENCE ADVANCES.—Admon as an article purporting to be of utility has been tested, and its merits endorsed by public opinion, unprincipled parties endeavor to replenish their depleted purses by counterfeiting and substituting a spurious for the genuine article. For years since, mercury, in the disguise of pills, powders, etc., was given for all diseases of the stomach and liver, while quinine was freely administered for the chills. At length Hostetter's Stomach Bitters made its advent, and an entire new system of healing was inaugurated. The beneficial effects of this valuable preparation were at once acknowledged, and mineral poisons suffered to sink into that obscurity to which an enlighted age has consigned them. There have been many spurious bitters palmed upon the community, which, after trial, have been found perfectly worthless, while Hostetter's has proved a blessing to thousands, who owe to it their restoration to health.

For many years we have watched the steady progress of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters in public estimation, and its beneficient effects as a cure for all complaints arising from the stomach of a morbid nature, and we are free to say that it can be relied upon as a certain relief and remedy. Its proprietors have made the above preparation, after years of careful study and skilling, and are now reaping the reward claimed by this valuable specific, and which they so richly merit. It is the only preparation of the kind that is reliable in all cases, and it therefore demands the attention of the afflicted.

UNSPOKEN WORDS.

BY J. ROYLE O'REILLY.

The kindly words that rise within the heart,
And thrill it with their sympathetic tone,
But die ere spoken, fail to play their part,
And claim a merit that is not their own.
The kindly word, unspoken, is a sin—
A sin that wraps itself in purest guise,
And tells the heart that, doubting, looks within,
That not in speech, but thought, the virtues lies.

But 'tis not so; another heart may thirst
For that kind word—as Hagar, in the wild—
Poor banished Hagar prays! a well might burst
From out the sand, to save the parching child,
And loving eyes, that cannot see the mind,
Will watch the expected movement of the lip;
Ah! can ye let its cutting silence wind
Around that heart, and scathe it, like a whip?

Unspoken words, like treasures in the mine,
Are valueless until we give them birth;
Like unfound gold their hidden beauties shine,
Which God has made to bless and gild the earth.
How sad 'twould be to see a master's hand
Strike glorious notes upon a voiceless lute;
But, oh! what pain, when at God's own command,
A heartstring thrills with kindness, but is mute.

Then hide it not, the music of the soul—
Your sympathy, expressed with kindly voice;
But let it like a shining river roll
To deserts dry—to hearts that would rejoice,
Oh, let the symphony of kindly words
Sound for the poor, the friendless, and the weak,
And He will bless you! He who struck these cords
Will strike another when in turn you seek.

Striking Confirmation of the Accuracy of the Bible.

A very singular and striking confirmation of the truth of certain ancient Bible records has lately been brought to light. The land of Moab, lying east of the Jordan and Dead Sea, being under Turkish rule, and the authorities being jealous of all the movements of travelers, has been a land of mystery, and few and far between have been explorations of it. In 1868, the Rev. F. A. Klein, a Prussian missionary at Jerusalem, traveling in Moab under the protection of an Arab Sheikh, discovered a remarkable stone among the ruins of the ancient city of Dibon. The stone was originally three feet five inches in width and thickness, with an inscription of thirty-four lines.

It is believed originally, there were eleven hundred letters on the stone, but only six hundred and sixty-nine have been restored, as it was partially broken in pieces after curiosity concerning it had led the Arabs to suppose it valuable, and that money could be obtained for the separate pieces. The inscription was the ancient character used by the inhabitants of Moab, and having been deciphered by adepts in this species of lore, it is satisfactorily ascertained that the inscription is older than most of the Old Testament, and was, beyond doubt, made in the year that Elijah, the prophet, was translated into heaven. It reads like a chapter in the Bible, and gives strong confirmation to the facts related in the inspired volume. It has an age of at least twenty-seven hundred years, being the work of a people who dwelt in immediate connection with the people of Israel during the whole period of their marvellous history.

The inscription narrates the achievements of King Mesha, the Moabite monarch who fought against Jehoram and Jehosaphat, and speaks of the vessels of Jehovah taken from the captured Nebo and dedicated to Chemosh, the national deity of the conqueror. This inscription not only depicts the wars between Israel and Moab, so vividly pictured in the Old Testament, but also strikingly illustrates the historical, geographical, and religious relations of these kingdoms. There are few occurrences more remarkable, even in this age of surprises, than the manner in which the Moabite stone has been awakened from the sleep of three thousand years, to unfold the secrets of language, and of history, and to confirm, by its emphatic testimony, the essential accuracy of the Book of Books.

Political News Items.

The Chicago Tribune, the great Radical organ of the Northwest says, editorially: There is no hope for the country under the administration of Grant. It is the most corrupt, the most stolid, the most stupid, the most hopelessly joined to its idols the nation every saw. The people demand a change and they will have it.

Hon. Lyman Trumbull, Radical Senator from Illinois, in a recent speech said: The whole land is sick of Radicalism. The people want peace and the reduction of taxes. They know the Ku-Klux to be myths, and they are not willing to continue the war six years after the cessation of hostilities. We must have peace, and the Radical party has signally failed to give it to us.

The Hon. John G. Carlisle, Democratic candidate for Lieutenant-Governor of Kentucky, defines his position. He thought "that the amendments lately adopted changed the character of the Constitution, and protested against them as subversive of liberty and the rights of the States." Still if the Democratic National Convention shall adopt the Ohio platform, so-called, or something like it in substance, he would not only vote for its candidates, but if necessary, would go before the people, and contribute all he could to their election. There was no banner except the banner of Democracy beneath which a white man could stand, and he expected to follow it hereafter as he had done heretofore. No Democrat, North or South, informed the principle of these amendments or the means by which they were adopted. The utmost proposed was to acquiesce in them as accomplished facts, and make the great struggle in 1873, on other issues.

The Rice Market.

Owing to the large importations, foreign stock accumulated on the market, and the demand being much below the supply, prices declined. The high prices of domestic rice at Charleston and Savannah continued, and several dealers having large stocks of foreign rice on hand, conceived the idea of underselling the Southern markets. With this intention, several invoices, amounting in all to about 1,000 bags, were sent South, and actually sold in Charleston at one cent per pound lower than the South Carolina rice.

The effect of this transaction was to bring out the stock which had been held back and to equalize the prices. Patna rice, which is the choicest grade of the foreign article, has been imported this year far in excess of the demand, and the price has fallen off, but the poor grades still bring as high a price as the first qualities of Rangoon. During the war and the few years following, when the Carolina rice was scarce, the Patna took its place, and for some time sold for the same price. But now, however, owing to the large importations, the price has declined

The present growing stock in the Carolinas is expected to arrive very early, the latest advices say about the 1st of September. This is very unusual, and if the first should arrive about the middle of the month it would be far in advance of the usual time. The crop is estimated to be at least one-third larger than that of this year.—N. Y. Bulletin.

Killed by Plastering.

A woman was killed yesterday morning, in the City Hotel building, by plastering which fell from the ceiling. The name of the deceased is Mrs. Elizabeth Charles. It appears that her husband and herself occupied a room in the second story of the house, the plastering of which was very bad. They did not sleep on a bedstead, but on the floor, upon a pallet. Yesterday morning, about 4 o'clock, Mrs. Charles was lying on her back and sleeping soundly, when a large mass of plastering fell from the ceiling directly over her and struck her on the stomach.

The noise and the lime and dust which fell upon the husband's face, awoke him, and he found that his wife had been fearfully injured. She was unable to speak, and fearing that more of the plastering would fall, he carried her away from the bed to another part of the room, and held her head upon his knee. In the meantime the noise awoke another inmate of the house, and an acquaintance of the parties, named Fred Antoni, who rushed to the room to find out what was the matter, but the door being fastened from the inside, could not enter. Charles was afraid to put his wife down, and told Antoni to force the door open, which was done. The wife lived only about a minute afterwards and expired in her husband's arms.—Chronicle and Sentinel.

☞ The ex-Empress Eugenie does not wish a divorce. The London Times gave credence to a report that in consequence of the Marguerite Bellanger scandal, Eugenie was determined to obtain a divorce. This report the Echo authoritatively contradicts. Why should Eugenie seek a divorce? She married the Emperor and the Emperor has ceased to exist. Eugenie is entitled to be spoken of as a good wife. She clings to her husband in spite of all his faults and all his failures.—N. Y. Herald.

☞ "Mother," said a little girl who was engaged in making her doll an apron, "I believe I will be a Duchess when I grow up." "How do you ever expect to become a Duchess, my daughter?" her mother asked. "Why, by marrying a Dutchman, to be sure," replied the girl.

OF THE

Northern Pacific Railroad.

RAPID PROGRESS OF THE WORK.

THE building of the Northern Pacific Railroad—Contract 2nd June—is being pushed forward with great energy from both extremities of the line. Several thousand men are employed in Minnesota and on the Pacific coast. The grade is nearly completed 200 miles westward from Lake Superior; trains are running over 120 miles of finished road, and track-laying is rapidly progressing toward the eastern border of Dakota, including 14 miles of the St. Paul and Pacific Road, the Northern Pacific Company now has 125 miles of completed road, and by September next this will be increased to at least 500.

A Good Investment.—Jay Cooke & Co. are now selling, and unhesitatingly recommend, as a Profitable and perfectly safe Investment, the First Mortgage Land Grant Gold Bonds of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company. They have 20 years to run, bear Seven and Three-Tenths per cent. gold interest, (more than 8 per cent. currency,) and are secured by first and only mortgage on the ENTIRE ROAD AND ITS APPURTENANCES, and also, as fast as the Road is completed, 23,000 Acres of Land to every mile of track or 500 Acres for each $1,000 Bond. They are exempt from United States Tax; Principal and Interest are payable in Gold; Denominations: Coupon, $100 to $1,000; Registered, $100 to $10,000.

Lands for Bonds.—Northern Pacific 7-30's are taken at par and preferable at TEN PER CENT. ABOVE PAR, in exchange for the Company's Lands, at their lowest cash price. This renders them practically INTEREST BEARING LAND WARRANTS.

Sinking Fund.—The proceeds of all sales of Lands are required to be devoted to the re-purchase and cancellation of the First Mortgage Bonds of the Company. The Land Grant of the Road exceeds Fifty Million Acres. This immense Sinking Fund will undoubtedly cancel the principal of the Company's bonded debt before it falls due. With their ample security and high rate of interest, there is no investment, accessible to the people, which is more PROFITABLE OR SAFE.

Exchanging U. S. Five-Twenties.—The success of the New Government 5 per cent. Loan will compel the early surrender of United States 6 per cents. Many holders of Five-Twenties are now exchanging them for Northern Pacific Seven-Thirties, thus realizing a handsome profit, and greatly increasing their yearly income.

Other Securities.—All marketable Stocks and Bonds will be received at their highest current price in exchange for Northern Pacific Seven-Thirties. EXPRESS CHARGES on Money or Bonds received, and on Seven-Thirties sent in return, will be paid by the Financial Agents. Full information, maps, pamphlets, etc., can be obtained on application at any agency, or from the undersigned. For sale by

Now published. The "University Series" embraces

MAURY'S GEOGRAPHICAL SERIES,

By Commodore M. F. MAURY, of the Virginia Military Institute. A series of books which mark an era in the study of this science, and which, in the words of a well known and accomplished Southern teacher, "are characterized by a felicity of arrangement and simple freshness of style which must ever render them attractive to the young, and which will be used by all who wish to teach Geography as a science, as something to make pupils think, and not merely as an enumeration of dry facts."

Holmes' Readers and Spellers,

By GEORGE F. HOLMES, LL.D., Professor of History and General Literature in the University of Virginia. A series of Readers unequalled in cheapness, excellence, and typographical beauty. They are steadily progressive in character, bright and fresh in their selections of prose and verse, and illustrative of Southern scenes, incidents, and history.

Venable's Arithmetical Series,

By CHARLES S. VENABLE, LL.D., Professor of Mathematics in the University of Virginia. These books are received everywhere by intelligent teachers with the highest satisfaction, as being most admirably adapted for mental drill, as well as for business education. Their methods, rules, and reasonings are clear, distinct, logical, and comprehensive, and the series is carefully graded throughout.

Holmes' History of the United States,

By GEORGE F. HOLMES, LL.D., of the University of Virginia. It is enough to say of this admirable work, interesting, impartial, and truthful, as well as pure and graceful in style, that it is the only History of the United States which is strictly impartisan It comes down to the present date. Also,

De Vere's French Grammar, Readers, etc.,
Cildersleeve's Latin Series,
Carter's Elements of General History,
Holmes' English Grammars,
LeConte's Scientific Series,
Johnston's English Classics,
Duntonian Writing-Books, etc., etc.
